MEDICAL.

THE PREMATURE DECAY OF YOUTH.

JUST PUBLISHED BY DR. STONE,

PHYSICIAN to the Troy Lunc and Hygienic Institute, a treatise on the early Decay of American Youth; the vice of Self-Abuse and its direful consequences; Seminal Weakness and other diseases of the Sexual Organs in both male and female.

The above work has received the highest commendation from several leading papers of the Union as one of the most able ever published on the subject of such vital interest. It is for gratuitous distribution, and it will be mail in a sealed envelop to any part of the country free of charge, on receipt of two stamps for postage.

A Word of Solemn Conscientious Advice to those who will Reflect.

It is a solemn fact that hundred die annually in the United States with consumption, marasmus, or premature decay. There cannot be an effect without an adequate cause. In view of the awful destruction of human life and health, by marasmus or premature exhaustion and decay of the nervous system, nervous debility, caused by natural debility, self-abuse, Self-Abuse, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Impotence, Leucorrhœa, Virulent private disease, both in male and female, and Sterility, and organic diseases of the kidneys, and in view of the deception which is practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks and base pretenders, the Directors of the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute have instructed their attending physician to give his personal attention, for all patients time afflicted, male or female, who may apply by letter or personally, with a description of their case, as to a true and reliable means of cure. And the Institute proposes to treat the unfortunate, and in case of extreme poverty and suffering, for a sum that will only compensate the cost of medicines.

☞The most reliable consultations advice will at all times be given by the physician of the Institute, both by letter and personally, to each and every one.

ON THE NATURE, TREATMENT, AND RADICAL CURE OF PREMATURE DECLINE OF MANHOOD, or Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, Impotency, and Nervousness, and such like, Involuntary Emissions, inducing Impotency and Mental and Physical Incapacity.

BY ROB. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.,

Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the sad and humiliating consequences of Self-Abuse may be entirely without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and speedily.

This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

FOR PRESIDENT,
JOHN BELL,
OF TENNESSEE.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
EDWARD EVERETT,
OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1860.

Despite as we deplore that gentleman's dereliction of official duty and deviation from the path of rectitude, we cannot permit his fidelity to be questioned—by men who only dare to assail him because he is unable to defend himself, &c.

That's curious truly. Fowler went on stealing the public money for seven years till his stealings amounted to $175,000, and then ran away and is now skulking in some cellar or garret or cave or swamp or prairie as a fugitive from the justice that would consign him to the penitentiary, and yet the President tells us through his organ that he will not permit the fidelity of his skulking favorite to be for an instant "questioned." The President thinks that people assail his absconding thief only because the latter is "unable to defend himself." No doubt he would have all his thieves treated with the utmost civility and courtesy upon the ground that the poor devils cannot defend their evil deeds. But certainly they can urge the rather plausible defense that their masters at Washington, including the President himself, are continually setting them the example of depredations upon the Treasury.

When was it ever before heard of that the immediate organ of an administration dared to show itself indignantly and wrathful at the public denunciation of a whole-sale thief?

☞ "Occasional" is using the asphaneeous to our distinguished son of Kentucky, who is in French parlance, "Monsieur, the Major, Vice-President of the United States." He, "Occasional," writes to Forney's Press that an opportunity is now presented for "our brilliant and handsome young Vice President to distinguish himself beyond everything that has occurred to him in his political career," and the modus operandi is thus suggested, by the acute correspondent, referring to Mr. B.:

I know he has very little kind feeling for Judge Douglas, and that his friends complain, with some grounds, lately, of the attacks which are made by the supporters of the "Little Giant," but a public man must, now and then, afford to vindi his personal feelings, and to perform an act of magnanimity for the sake of a great cause. Breckinridge will be Vice President, if he lives, until 1861, and will then assume his seat as United States Senator for six years from the 4th of March, and would be an ex-Vice President when he was forty-four years old. There are few more spectacles more lamentable than a young ex-President of the United States. Thus, General Pierce, who is quoted as saying that he was compelled to live a life of self-denial, feeling that wherever he moves he is the "observed of all observers," and, in some sort, a representative of his country. Although Mr. Madison went into the Virginia Constitutional Convention, and John Quincy Adams was elected a member of the popular branch, after they had served out their respective Presidential terms they were older men than Mr. Breckinridge would be after the expiration of his term as President.

Besides, his friends are making a very doubtful contest for him, even if they should agree to respect his pretensions to the succession hereafter. The friends of Mr. Guthrie at his own home are bitterly opposed to him. The Louisville Courier, the organ of Mr. Guthrie, is in the habit of assailing, and in the true spirit of a partisan, the old and friendship for Douglas. Kentucky, like Missouri, belongs to the great Northwest, and Mr. Breckinridge was in the habit of referring to this connection when he supported Judge Douglas against Mr. Buchanan, in 1856. Why not, then, at once, take thus by the forelock, and boldly announce himself in favor of the nomination of the Senator from Illinois? he presented by the Baltimore Convention, he will unquestionably carry Kentucky. He has hosts of friends in that State, and many of them many who are devoted to the fortunes of Breckinridge. The speculators at Charleston, while professing to be friendly to the Vice President, really cared nothing for him. Their game was hostility to Douglas, and they were ready to drop into the support of Guthrie, the personal rival of Breckinridge. This suggestion might be premature, if no offensive, but it is made in the best spirit, and I hope will be so understood. It could not fail to relieve the relations between Douglas and Breckinridge, and would give an impetus to the movement in favor of the former that would place him under the most sacred and lasting obligations to the latter.

These are traits very skillfully put on the political book, and very much calculated to catch a bite: but it remains to be seen whether "the brilliant and handsome" but very wary and cautious "young Vice President" will swallow them. We don't believe he will; we don't believe it is his manifest destiny to be the successor of Douglas, and therefore the Little Giant must pull his own hot roasted chestnuts out of the ashes himself. To that, we believe the Major will "assent a better bargain than to cast his influence for a Western man in 1860, and thus spoil his own prospects for 1864. He will be perfectly willing to enter into any little arrangements, but they must be of that character which the veritable Jones proposed to the equally veritable Smith, when the following colloquy ensued: "I understand, Mr. Jones, that you can turn anything neater than any other man in town." "Yes, Mr. Smith, I said so." "Mr. Jones, I don't like to brag, but there's no man on earth can turn a thing as well as I can whittle it." "Pooh, nonsense, Mr. Smith! talk about whittling! What can you whittle as well as I can turn?" "Anything, everything, Mr. Jones. Just name the article that I can't whittle that you can turn, and I'll give you a dollar if I can't do it to the satisfaction of all these persons present." "Mr. Smith, suppose we take two grind stones for trial; you may whittle and I will turn."

We are under the impression that Douglas will be allowed to whittle away at the grindstone of 1860, while Mr. Breckinridge will amuse himself with turning that of 1861. We may be wrong, but it is "a shrewd suspicion," and is shared by very many men of many political minds in these latitudes, who know the Major well, and are also aware of the policy laid down by the wily Cardinal Richelieu to foil giants with straws, and to lay by the lion's skin and assume the fox's. However, we shall see what we shall see.

☞ The Lebanon Democrat, referring to the proceedings of the third annual tobacco fair under the patronage of the Kentucky Agricultural Society at this place, says: "Some of our planters from Green and Taylor think they have just cause of complaint for the manner they have been treated by the tobacco interests in Louisville. If their statements be true, of which we cannot doubt, some little investigation will have to be made down there." We hope the Democrat will be more specific and let us know the apparent grievances, for we feel confident that they can all be explained if they are frankly and fairly stated. We are personally aware of nothing which could possibly tend to mar the general harmony and satisfaction that were evinced at the fair on the 18th inst. and if any errors were committed they resulted most assuredly from inadvertence. We know that every effort was made to extend exact justice to all; the gentlemen selected as judges were of unimpeachable integrity, and in the large attendance present we heard no expressions of dissatisfaction. The Lebanon Democrat, if it assumes to speak for the planters of Green and Taylor counties, should make specific allegations and not indulge in damaging hints or suspicious innuendoes.

In 1858, Douglas beat Lincoln and Old Buck's Danite party united. The Lincolnites were proud of the Federal office-holders—postmasters and route agents included. These Danites and their hangers-on numbered over five thousand. Then they were rendering the service their master needed of them; now their master's term, like their own, will soon expire, and they no longer do his bidding. The popular majority in Illinois is largely the Black Republican party, unless the Administration ticket run in that State in 1858 is classed among the Black Republicans. We know that under the leadership of the Administration it was guilty of a great outrage; still, as the Administration is dead, we suppose these men will again, &c.—Democrat.

It is thus that the editor of the Democrat talks about the Buchanan administration. If he is to be believed, the Administration is corrupt and infamous and unfit to live upon the face of the earth. Yet he and his party are responsible for having created it, and there has scarcely been for months past a Democratic State Legislature or a Democratic Convention or a Democratic meeting of any kind that did not endorse in words its character. Bad and outrageous as the Administration may have been, it has not been too bad and outrageous to receive the publicly-expressed approval of the Democratic party in all that party's manifold kinds of utterings. In other words, it is no worse than the party, and if it is, as the Democrat calls it, "dead," the party most richly deserves to be dead too. Let's kill it.

☞ Senator Wigfall says that Senator Pugh has fallen from grace. Pugh was never so high in grace that the fall need hurt him much.

☞ The first of the American expeditions for observing the solar eclipse of July 18th, left New York on Monday for Washington Territory, and the others will soon follow for Labrador and the Hudson's Bay Territory. The main body will be stationed on the Cascade mountains, and the difficulty of obtaining a suitable situation in a country so densely wooded, together with the hour at which the phenomenon will take place, renders favorable results so extremely hazardous that the New York Express says no astronomer who has a reputation to make could afford to volunteer for a duty involving so many inevitable sacrifices. The party for Washington Territory will consist of an astronomer and two assistants together with a sufficient number of voyageurs—old employees of the Hudson's Company—to cut a path through the forest and properly take care of the pack animals. They expect to be some twenty days absent from Steilacoom, where the party will land. The moon's shadow will cross from the west to the east coast in about thirty minutes, and, as the difference of local time is about three hours, the observery who will go to Labrador next month will witness the phenomenon under the most favorable circumstances. The party at Washington Territory goes out under ca Lieut. J. M. Gilliss, of the U. S. Navy faithful and accomplished officer, wi success as a practical astronomer bo and in connection with the Nation tory and United States Coast Surv lic are familiar.

We are free to admit that, in our was not sufficient cause in the rem de by Potter, the latter, for a long other hand, we believe Mr. Pryor in refusing to use the unusual weap ose at which he would be as completely a ey of his enemy as if he was unarmed. e is no rule of the code which forces a man ce him self at the slightest disadvantage. e code was written for the purpose of ensuring perfect fairness in all affairs of this kind, and may, in that light, be regarded as a humane institution, for otherwise, the one-sided kind of butchery Mr. Potter proposes, would be generally in vogue.

New York Day Book.

The duel is an institution that we don't believe in, but we think that Mr. Potter, it he chose to accept Mr. Pryor's challenge at all, was quite justifiable under the circumstances in naming bowie-knives as the weapons. To be sure, he might have had some advantage in a fight with knives, for he is a stroug, large man, while Pryor is rather a weak little one. But if Potter had challenged Pryor, Pryor would no doubt have chosen, and his friends would have upheld him in choosing, dwelling pistols, with which long practice has made him expert, while Potter probably knows nothing about them. Yes, Pryor's friends would have justified him in naming pistols so that he could use his keen marksmanship in shooting at a big mark while his unskillful and unpracticed opponent would have had to shoot at a small one. In our view, there would have been no more inequality between the two gentlemen with bowie-knives than with pistols. And Potter exhibited no more cowardice in naming the former weapon than Pryor, if challenged, would have exhibited in naming the latter. Perhaps, as the Day Book says, the duelling code "was written for the purpose of ensuring perfect fairness," but it certainly doesn't subserve that purpose once in ten times, and it never will until all such of the people of the United States as dare say their souls are their own shall so devote themselves to the daily manipulation of all the various weapons of slaughter as to become equally skillful with the duellists by trade.

☞ "Dodger" writes to us from Bowling Green, claiming for an old friend, Lord Byron, the origin of the word "entuzzymuzzy," which we attributed to the late Joseph C. Neal. We remember that the enthusiastic synonym is used in Byron's letters, but whether their collector Tom Moore or the poetic Baronet invented it, we do not recollect. At all events, poor Neal has the right to claim its foster-parentage, as he picked it up a waif and placed it in a classed school, and therefore we are not willing to abate one iota of our former praise of him. Indeed we so loved Neal when living that our entuzzymuzzy is always excited to fever heat when we can say a good word to his worth or memory.

☞ Since the death of the Rev. Eleazer Williams, the question "have we a Bourbon among us?" has not been mooted. But now it seems certain that the interrogatory can receive an affirmative answer, as the Prince de Joinville, third son of Louis Philippe, has arrived here incog. for the purpose of enjoying the wild sports of the West. The Prince is about forty-two years old, and when he was just of age, visited this country in his frigate La Belle Poule, and subsequently married a daughter of the late Emperor of Brazil and sister to the now reigning Monarch. The Prince was born of poor but respectable parents," joined the navy when very young, had the honor of bringing Napoleon's remains from St. Helena, and would doubtless have now been King of France, had not the Duchess of Orleans, the widow of his elder brother, prevailed the claims of her son, the Count of Paris, after the expulsion of his father. He has become the father of a family, has resigned himself to the post of honor, the private station and as Louis Philippe took care of his private exchequer, he lives on the fat of the land in England, and leads a very quiet, genteel, and irreproachable life.

☞ The Indianapolis papers state that the cedar posts which are intended to support the fence which is to enclose the State Fair grounds, and which are all ready to be set, were cut in Canada, sent across Lake Erie to Cleveland, transported to that place and sold at cheaper rates than white oak posts can be sold in the immediate vicinity. This looks a little singular, but it is nevertheless a fact. White oak timber is worth more in the growing tree in Marion county, for fencing purposes, than cedar is after being cut in Queen Victoria's dominions and sent all the way to Indianapolis.

☞ All the Democratic village editors affect to sneer at the most distinguished scholar of the age, Edward Everett, as a writer for a weekly paper. It is certainly amusing to see a man, who writes for a paper with a circulation of half a million at a compensation of two hundred dollars per column and devotes the amount to the cause of the country, sneered at by spiteful little scribblers who are glad to work for a dime a column and fob the proceed themselves.

☞ The Governor of Massachusetts is strongly importuned by his people to call an extra session of the Legislature to stop the cattle distemper. The Legislature should have passed a stringent law against that distemper at its last session.

☞ Mr. Buchanan says, through his Washington Constitution, that he rejoices in the knowledge that "some Democrats true to their party principles are still left." We have thought for some time that all his consolation was "over the left."

☞ Our old friend Brooks, of the New York Express, moved in the Baltimore Convention to make the nomination of Bell and Everett unanimous, and the motion was carried, and yet Mr. Brooks up to this time withholds his editorial support from the ticket. Tom Moore says that

"The moon looks

but we guess it doesn't look on many like him of the New York Express.

☞ Our pleasant neighbor of the Democrat points out a distinction between us and the devil. We are afraid we couldn't possibly do him a similar favor, but, if we ever find out a distinction, we will promptly designate it—no matter which of the two interesting parties it may seem to favor.

☞ The sectional parties North and South have assumed characteristic position recently; the Republicans are now "rail splitters," and the Democrats are "hair splitters."

Lincoln green has suddenly become the fashionable color in New York since the Chicago nomination—Balt. Patriot

So it was when the farmer put green glasses on his cattle and gave them shavings for fodder instead of grass, thinking to practice an innocent deception upon them and economize his provender.

☞ Lincoln and Douglas are a great pair of splitters. Lincoln once followed the business of splitting rails, and Douglas has always been splitting hairs and has now split his party.

☞ Wonders will never cease! There has actually been an exhibition of harmonious feeling between two prime donne of the New York Academy of Music—a tribute bestowed by a Mademoiselle to a Madame, both rivals on the lyric stage. Adelina Sperranza presented on Tuesday evening to Marietta Gazzaniga an elegant wreath of flowers as a symbol at once of the beautiful qualities of the recipient and the gratitude and affection of the donor. Had these two vocalists been singing together in an opera, and one received one bouquet more than the other—nay, had the floral gifts been equal, but one contained a rose petal more than the other, Roxana and Statira, the rival Queens in the affections of Alexander the Great, never "showed such light" as would have transformed Sperranza and Gazzaniga into the Sayers and Heenan of the operatic ring.

☞ Hannibal Hamlin, the Republican nominee for the Vice Presidency, may have some popularity at the East, but he is nothing in the West. The Carthaginian Hannibal crossed the Alps, but the New England one will hardly manage to cross the Alleghanies.

An editor's life is not so much of a dog's life, after all is said and done.—Burlington Gazette.

No doubt some editors' lives (we don't mean to be personal) are literally dogs' lives.

☞ A mad cow appeared in the streets of Buffalo on Wednesday, and badly injured a little child. The cow was killed, and its fate reminds us of:

Guy, Earl of Warwick, of great renown,
Who's story's told in every town;
Throughout every village as you go,
You hear of Guy and his monstrous cow.

☞ The disunionists threaten to spit upon the platform of the Democratic Baltimore convention, and they are generally tobacco chewers.

☞ The devotion of Gov. Seward to the principles of his party having been doubted, since his failure to receive the Chicago nomination, the New York Courier and Enquirer publishes the following from the Auburn Advertiser, and says it speaks advisedly in announcing that it not only speaks his sentiments but was actually written by him:

We place the names of Lincoln and Hamlin at the head of our columns with pride and satisfaction. No truer exposition of the Republican creed could be given than the platform adopted by the convention contains. No truer or truer defenders of the Union can fall for our support. The assault in the Union that the distinguished and esteemed citizens on whom the honors of the nomination have fallen, their party has selected, by a decisive majority, will restore the Government of the United States to its constitutional and ancient course. Let the watchword of the Republican party be Union, be Union and Liberty, and onward to Victory.

THE CONDITION OF THEBLACK HAWK.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 22, 1860.

GENTLEMEN: You need not fear the North! It is a very easy matter to burn tar, to tire cannon, to parade big banners and to cheer and yell after an organized programme. These affairs are done to order; they explode and melt into thin air like all other pyrotechnic combinations. Mr. Hillard's oration of Bunker's grasshopper story will this day nail on the head. The Republican ticket nominated at Chicago stands just about as much chance of success as the Lexington fire did of discovering the inhabitants in the moon. Be it your task, ye braves of the Southwest, to take care of the Southern Disunionists. Be it the task of the North to keep the Republicanism as remorselessly as Indian mothers put out of the world, on their birth, the ugly, deformed brats hatched in their wigwams. Instead of physical deformity, we have the monstrous moral bringing-forth of the Chicago Wigwam. And the North will do this at any and at all hazards, and by any means that may become necessary. Have neither doubt nor fear of this result. An organized band of men, representing every industrial interest in the seaboard cities and in the manufacturing towns, quiet and determined, and alive to their personal interests, which are bound up in the peace and harmony of the sections, constitute the quiet, but overwhelming force which will soon enter the field, whereon our friend Abraham shines now so resplendently in his brief glory, his glory of the Illinois campaign, his glory of his 3 months' service in the House of Representatives in Washington, his local legislative renown, his Black Hawk war splendor, and his final magnificent display at Chicago. Are these properties by Greeley's coat-tail and the lovely modest foil of Senator Seward and that of the evaporated nolle-prosequing Adam, "that no reader shall out-extinguish" friend Judge Bates. Yes, "Abe" is a spectacle! But then Abe is not Tippecanoe, by a jug full. They may talk about "splitting rails" until their sides split, they may play the buffoon as well as Ravel does the monkey, they may glory in such euphony as "mud-sill"—delightful note of music! But the time to dance is not the time to see, there is nary log cabin nor hard cider there! That mousseue won't go down when the grave matters of the Union and its peace and commerce, its tropical monopoly, are discussed.

No! Chicago has done a speaking thing. It has put felt on its cavalry, as old Lear says; it is locomotive, cat-like, it can see in the dark. In the drama with a mask and dirk and dark-lantern, it is a Wigwam Indian in multi-scale, enfeasting to lure the unwary with lures—ill devices. Its head, like that of the rattlesnake, is fixed to lure by its tail feathers "quiver in mid-air like those of the swooping Douglas. Abraham, you are not worth digging. The property that you have about would pronounce your "make up" to be damnable. You are in villainous company, "Abe," and you must share the fate of "poor dog Tray." How did you like the Erie plan? Was mittens set the ticking incident to music? If they will only do so, I can safely promise it a more successful run than Hiawatha will by a Lincoln!

Is there any man fool enough to imagine that this ticket will walk over the course? For a fool's errand surely it is a more successful one than thine will be, O Lincoln!

Is there any man fool enough to imagine that the ticket will walk over the course? For a few days back we, in Washington, have had free admission to a farce sustained by stars. Before Mr. Seward went from his lodgings at the Clarence, from the blessed shades of retirement he might be descried, called, in the classic style, to accept the Chicago nomination. Then he was to be officially royally that applications were beginning to pour in on him for office. The split at Charleston had placed him on his throne, a sort of Christopher Sly, impersonated by Jefferson, with crown, globe and sceptre, and the New Yorkers had begun an appropriate stage-walk. The catastrophe of this "comedy of errors," and Seward's consequent flight thereof has reached Mr. Sewall! Now we have it here that amid the blaze of these tar barrels and the roar of the 6-pounder, Thurlow Weed has gone to Springfield to arrange a Graham cabinet; or, in default thereof, to smash things—poor, powerless, hide-crammed Weed! Was there ever anything so ridiculous? Had a modern prayer Barns made, "O wad some power the giftie gie us," &c. Yes, such is the intense, pulled, crushing state of these majestic, musical frogs of the corporate pond of Sodom in consequence of it, they imagine the whole world to be singing with them upon their little island, surrounded, by the way, by water cold, dark, wide.

Figures are unpleasant things when they sum up the wrong way—they bring a fellow to the stretch with "a round turn," and play the very devil with fancy work. Speculating most intelligently, you are talking cheaginously about millions, when the butcher presents you with a pretty bill of some eight-and-twenty dollars, for whose liquidation you have not "the change." Rods bother! how could you?

Where is this Black Hawk, this hawk of a tickel whose talons yearn to tear this Union asunder, where is it to get its votes? Will the more than one-half million of votes by which the conservative element in the country overbalanced in the race) exceeds the spoilers be inactive? Will Lincoln carry Pennsylvania? Faugh! do you think that the conservatives of its commercial emporium will permit that profligate to be voted over the State of New York, wherein it has but lately been demonstrated that the united opposition to three tariffers readily controls the State? You might as well have asked the Spartans to have yielded their classic pass. How will they get it along in Connecticut? It is well known that for a few days' postponement of the late election would have given Connecticut to the Democrats, and upon this advance of the the black hawk threatening their gravest interests, no less resistance be made? Rhode Island—will they recover that? Are they quite sure of Massachusetts, where Boston has "bolted men, and where lives Edward Everett? Are they confident of New Jersey? Now the manufacturing interests of New Jersey are quite waspish! If we are to credit the best informed men in that State, the Black hawk will be shotted out of New Jersey as fast as the King's troops were in the Revolution. It is for you and not me to speak of the Northwest, but I declare, honestly, I have no more idea that Abraham (Absam) can carry Indiana, for example, than I have that he is so lord Duffield, and the Lord knows that Abe makes no such pretensions. Yet grant Abraham the Northwest, what then? But no half-same man will claim the entire Northwest for Abraham.

The thing is absurd. Republicanism will be utterly and forever routed in this race, and it is a sin and shame that such a party should ever have prevailed at Chicago, where all the isms of bedlam and hell seem to have congregated. This may be a strong expression, but it is just such as the case, if not made to the fruit.

Look at Greeley, for example. Horace is the incarnate representative of every lunatic New England idea, and surely the devil presides over the irrepressible conflict trainers. What a smash up of party there is who ought to be in public life, but whose lot is cast in the midst of these curses! Noble spirits who would not accept office if proffered by Old Hickory, its disposition. Regard the platform adopted by the Chicago Convention. It, and the proceedings upon it, shoul d Heve could be so executed, appear in letters of fire henceforward in the sky of the election. The false legal construction so audaciously thereby given to the Constitution of the United States; the scoffing at the Judge of the Philadelphia platform as misnamed by Mr. Curtis in the discussion which followed the report of the resolutions; the emphatic distortion of the dogma of the Declaration of Independence, that all men are created free and equal, lugged in as a commentary or execration to the second resolution of that report, upon the suggested amendment of Mr. Giddings—and the very frenzy of abolition which its discussion and adoption excited, seen in the lurid glare of a presidential campaign, cast a demoniac shade over the group and its orgies at whose contemplation every patriotic heart must chill. Before a Democratic convention as this every minor consideration shrinks into insignificance.

Behold your work, yeold misguided reckless Democrats! You who have so constantly roused up this vexatious and dangerous question in every party capital, and whose extreme men will not even now abate its hazardous pressure. It was among your orators that the fire of this sectional intensity of this movement had birth; and the only course of duty before the moderate men among you is to unite with the Constitutional party in administering our intended and assured retribution. We have shaken and sloughed off our ulcerous antecedents—so ye and do likewise. Observe the condition into which your direct and wicked tampering with the foreign vote—to say nothing of the past which it has excited—has placed the rioters vandals at Chicago with reference to the naturalization laws. They would out Herod Herod. The imprisoned winds are all let loose, and the banner and yell of Pandemonium upproach the gate. Too long, too heedlessly have you played the demagogue. In the name of Almighty Heaven, is patriotism extinct among you? Has one of the fourteen States to which have to yield, settled, selfish purpose of disunion, which looks to filibustering in Central America, to the opening of the slave trade, to the conquest of Cuba, and to the race of those who "perish by the sword"—is patriotism beneath the vile dust of party, and such a party, among you? However moderate yours-less on this issue, of what avail is it with such allies! You but swell the mischief and lie to your own consciences when you fight in such ranks, or lend a section of such an army. Your place is with us, by our side, when "bygones are by-gones," and when the sole purpose of every heart and mind in our country and nothing but our country. Look upward at our banner in full view of the crisis that is upon us, Consult your American hearts and choose between the right and wrong. Do yourselves justice and how bright, how inviting, how full of true glory and honor will that cause appear to you whose standard is borne by Bell and Everett!

TRAINS FOR THE RACES:

THE WOODLAWNS RACES—Closing Day.—It was not Saturday—as lost as we should ever like to see it thus far from the tropics and the equatorial line. The sun seemed a ball of fire and distained and glowed with the most ferocious intensity. The fact however could not keep back the crowd who were determined on seeing a great four mile race, although it was discouaging to the horses that had the hard work to undergo.

By very long odds the largest attendance of the week was that of Saturday. There were over five hundred ladies present, being far the largest attendance of Kentucky womankind upon such an occasion since the fatal meeting of Grey Eagle and Wagner. In fact the occasions, though twenty years had intervened, possessed several points of similarity. The great favorite was a Kentucky horse and the opponent one of great racer. State pride was again aroused, and Colossus was backed up with the largest sums. He only succeeded to the discomfiture of Grey Eagle, being broken down, after having proven himself during the week not only worthy of his sovereign blood but a gallant and glorious race horse in every respect. His powers were over-taxed and he succumbed.

At the start Colossus was decidedly the favorite. He had already won during the week three hotly contested races, and his backers seemed confident of his undergoing any amount of labor. When the drum was tapped Joe Stoner took the lead. Marengo second, Endorser third, and Colossus fourth. This was the relative position until the last mile, when Gilpatrick with his Colossus went ahead and won the heat. Time, 2:40; 1:55; 1:53½. Heat in 7:46½.

Considering the excessive heat of the weather this was remarkably fast time for a four mile race. We understand that it has never been beaten but upon one occasion in Kentucky. In the race between Grey Eagle and Wagner the first four miles was made in 7:31. The fastest four mile time was that of Lexington over the Metairie Course in 7:19½.

Marengo was distanced the first heat and Colossus exhibited signs of great feebleness. He was taken in the rear and died freely from his mouth and nostrils. It is feared that he has been seriously injured in his contests of the week.

Notwithstanding his feebleness and evident prostration, Colossus came readily to the stand mounted by his gallant rider. After several ineffectual efforts at starting they were all off, Stoner leading, Endorser second, and Colossus last. The latter made a fine attempt to win the race in two straight heats, and until the last mile seemed to have a fair chance, but he gradually fell back and was finally distanced, much to the discomfiture of his friends, who were fully two-thirds of the crowd in attendance.

The last heat, being the twelve miles, was hotly contested by Endorser and Stoner, but the bottom was in the Campbell horse, and although he was badly pushed he came in winner by two lengths.

Thus has concluded by far the most interesting series of sports that have ever occurred in Kentucky. We cannot speak too highly of the conduct of the gentlemen connected with the Woodlawn course. They have well merited the confidence of the public that has been awarded them, and we hope soon to meet again. As was the case with John Gilpin's biographer—

"When next they ride abroad,
May we be there to see."

CONFIRMATION OF JEWISH CHILDREN.—Yesterday was the sixth day of the month Sivan, and the first of the Feast of Weeks or the Passover—a very important and solemn anniversary in the most ancient of churches. It commemorated one of the solemn events in the history of the Israelitish nation and was the thirty-second centennial recurrence of the covenant between Abraham and Jehovah.

The Synagogue on Fourth street was the scene of one of the most interesting ceremonial observances ever witnessed in our city, and we do not wonder that it attracted an immense crowd of our citizens belonging to the different Christian persuasions. This was the confirmation of sixteen Jewish youth and their initiation into the duty of the house of Israel. They entered the Synagogue in procession, the girls dressed in white and wearing wreaths of roses in their hair. Each had a bouquet of beautiful flowers in which they placed the altar; the house was also very tastefully decorated.

After an admonitory address by the Rabbi, Rev. Dr. Gotthelf, the children were very closely catechised in the cardinal doctrines of the Jewish faith and they answered with great promptness, exhibiting unusual sprightliness and talent.

We subjoin the names of those confirmed:

Rose Sammers,	Fanny Mays,
Sallie Dauby,	Jennie Oberdorfer,
Milly Wise,	Harriet Silberman,
Morrie Sachs,	Henry Oberdorfer,
Simon Dinkelspiel,	Solomon Oberdorfer,
Alfred Dinkelspiel,	Levi Dinkelspiel,
Henry Gohlberg,	Moses Lieber,
Charles Rosenberg,	Joseph Rosenberg.

After the services Master Henry Oberdorfer, in behalf of himself and the other confirmants, in a very elegant speech, tendered Dr. Gotthelf, who had been their instructor, a beautiful silver service. The Rabbi responded in a very eloquent and feeling manner.

We regret that the services yesterday afternoon were interrupted by an absurd alarm of fire that originated from some evil disposed person.

THE STORM OF SUNDAY MORNING.—Boats, Railroads, and Houses Damaged.—There has never been within the memory of even that antiquated individual the "oldest inhabitant" the visitation of such a succession of remarkable thunderstorms and wind gusts in May as those of the past week. Scarcely a day or night has passed since the tornado of last Monday that we have not been visited by a demon of the storm.

That of Sunday morning was very furious. It commenced about 1 o'clock. The wind blowing from the west. Trees were prostrated, houses shaken, boats swept from their moorings, and all the indications of a fierce and terrific manifestation of the fury of rain was comparatively slight. Warned by previous storms our citizens very generally aroused themselves on the approach of this last one. Occurring as it did in the middle of the night, it was more portentous of danger and destruction. The moon became suddenly darkened; the air filled with dust, the limbs of trees, and fragments of roofs; and in almost every house there were lights with the families hastily dressing themselves in their nightgirt.

The storm continued for over half an hour, but did not occasion near so much loss of life and property as that of Monday.

On the Louisville & Nashville Railroad the locomotive H. D. Newcomb bringing in the last train from Nashville, ran into a tree and the tender was thrown from the track.

Along the line of the Louisville and Chicago road great damage was sustained. Trees and houses were blown down.

The Telegraph No. 3 had just arrived from Cincinnati and was blown from the landing, taking the wharfboat with her. She sailed up stream, and finally lodged among the coal barges. This seemed almost Providential, as it prevented the remainder from being swept loose and carried over the Falls. A barge belonging to Crittenden & Gaot was sunk. The Telegraph afterwards raised steam and came back to the foot of Third street in proper order.

The roof of the Perry Mills of W. A. Richardson that had just been replaced after last Monday's storm was again removed.

Mr. T. H. Hunt's bagging and rope factory on the Portland road, also suffered the loss of a roof.

The rear wall of Wallace & Lithgow's Eagle foundry, corner of Clay and Main was blown in.

On Fifth street, near Green, a very large tree was blown on the residence of L. A. Civill, and a sycamore on a house further South. On Broadway, between Sixth and Seventh, the old Park was nearly dismantled. There remain now but a tree and a half, and it is high time that the authorities were seeking to convert that portion of an important and fashionable thoroughfare into more than a mere dirt road.

All over the city, trees, fences, and houses were dismantled. It is a singular fact that the clock upon the Baptist steeple stopped at the precise moment that the storm was raging most furiously. It yet denotes the significant hour.

☞Samuel Huey, living near Gunpowder Creek, Boone county, six miles from the Ohio river, was killed by the falling of a tree during the storm of Monday. He was about 60 years of age and a worthy member of the Baptist Church.

☞George Law is going to reduce the steamboat fare from New York to Staten Island to three cents, to kill off an opposition boat. This reminds us of the good old competition times some thirty odd years ago, when Admiral Gibbons gave the trip between those places free and threw in a bottle of wine for each passenger.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

Last evening the river was rising with 6 feet 9 inches in the canal. After the storm of the previous night the weather was somewhat cooler though the thermometer registered to a high point.

The Madison discharged 2,000 sacks of salt for Messrs. Martin & Co., and 50 hhds of sugar for Coad & Moody.

Among the receipts yesterday were thirty-five bales of hay for W. A. Richardson.

The Southerner had the misfortune to break her rudder at the mouth of Salt River and returned. As noticed elsewhere she leaves this evening for Memphis.

The Pacific was expected from New Orleans last night. She is in charge of Capt. Wm. Lamb, with those clever gentlemen, Halliday and Barclay, as clerks, and will return to the South this evening. We could not commend travellers to a superior boat.

The Gen. Quitman having deserted the Memphis trade is coming here. She is due on Wednesday, being a fleet packet.

The Uncle Sam, that started from Cairo for this port, gave out the trip when she reached Cairo and proceeded to St. Louis.

Fire Memphis.—The superb passenger steamer Southerner, the remaining boat of the Memphis Line (having been detained by some necessary repairs to her rudder) takes her departure for Memphis and mail all principal intermediate landings this evening at 5 o'clock, from Portland. Now that the mails are carried by the local packets, Capt. Archer intends running his boat through on railroad time, and of course persons wishing a speedy and safe passage to Memphis and the intermediate towns will register on the Southerner. The S. will go promptly at the above hour.

The Baltic left Memphis on Wednesday evening with a large trip for this port. She had the freight and passengers of the Lizzie Simmons, a Memphis packet laid up in consequence of dull times.

Freights at Evansville are scarce and there is no material change in prices.

The Twichell is still hard aground at Goose Island, with about half her freight ashore. The Flora Temple was working with her and will doubtless get her off.

The Western Belle to-day for Nashville. She is a good boat and Messrs. N. S. Long & Bro. are the agents.

Although a dull season there were eleven arrivals of steamboats yesterday.

The storm of Sunday morning was by a time rather threatening on the river, but no serious damage was sustained. The mail steamer Telegraph was blown from her moorings, and carrying the wharfboat with her, was taken some distance up stream, where she finally lodged against one of coal boats. One of them, a barge belonging to Crittenden & Co., was sunk, but the others were protected and hindered from being swept over the Falls by the fortunate accident to the Telegraph.

The Memphis Appeal of Thursday says:

There is considerable outlet here seeking shipment for the North by way of the Ohio river, and several boats could get cargoes at once. The Silver Moon yesterday departed with about 1,300 bales, and there were 1,800 bales, a portion of which was at the landing awaiting shipment. The National was due from below last evening, and will fill up here with cotton for the Ohio river. The Hannibal will be down from above in about two at the Bulletin row-head, got off and passed down yesterday.

The New Orleans Picayune of Wednesday says:

Business on the levee yesterday was dull. On the upper landing there was a large fleet of boats, and about the same on the lower landing. Freights for all points are very scarce, and rates are nominal.

The weather was hot and disagreeable.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Saturday, May 26.—Antonio Lange and Artemesia Lange, drunk and disorderly—fined.

A BRUTAL ACT.—A Man Pulls the Tongue from a Horse's Mouth.—The Louisville Journal of the 23d inst. publishes the account of a brutal act perpetrated in that city by a man named Thos. Downing. It appears that Downing's team was in the cellar-way, pulling at a heavy load of stone and dirt. They refused to draw, when Downing, in a momentary fit of passion, stepped to the head of one of the horses, and, opening its mouth caught hold of the tongue and pulled it out! At least three inches of the tongue was pulled off, and the piece was left lying for some time afterwards on a stone—it being witnessed by quite a number of people.

The story of the cruelty was rapidly circulated, and a gentleman named Dobson, being a peaceable man arrested under the statute punishing with severity such cruelty to dumb beasts. Downing followed him to the Detective's office, and begged on hard to be let off the prosecution, but the case remained for the arrival of Mr. Alexander, who manifested great indignation. On Tuesday evening a mob at the corner of Sixth and Central Avenue were very much disposed to assault the rousing me and driver of a cart in the passenger cars, but a policeman afterwards proved to have been entirely beyond that event. The overflow was another instance in point.—Ib., 23d.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—Considerable excitement prevailed in town this week growing out of a rumor that Alexander Woodfolk, a prominent citizen of this county, residing in the neighborhood of Fox Springs, was supposed to have been murdered.

It seems that Montgomery had just received about $2000 of some gentleman in Rowan county, and on his way home he left the main road and passed by a small hollow at the Deer Creek ford, soon afterwards his horse was seen to run back upon the same road that he had but a short time previously passed with saddle and bridle but no rider. Search was instantly made, but no traces of him could be found.

It is since supposed that he is not murdered but has left for the State of Ohio.

PUBLISHING SPEECHES.—In the Senate to-day considerable excitement was produced on its appearing that Wilson had published a speech in the Globe on the slave trade which had not been delivered by him in the Senate, but which appeared in the proceedings in the regular course of debate. Hammond denounced Wilson's interpolation, and said penalties upon persons selling goods by running in Louisville and Jeffersonville, unconstitutional. There were several indictments, and all were similarly quashed.

☞The Marshal of the Chancery Court will sell at the Court House door, this day, the 28th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M., a comfortable three story brick dwelling house, centrally located. The sale will be positive. Those wanting a desirable dwelling should attend the sale.

☞We are requested to say that the eight lots on Main and Washington streets, near Wenzel, advertised by Mr. C. C. Spencer, at auction, will be positively sold to the highest bidder and without any limit this afternoon on the premises.

☞The Toledo Arizonan correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writing under date of April 20th presents another subject for Congressional investigation, showing that over $700,000 of supplies were let without advertising for bids. He says:

Instructions were received at Fort Buchanan by last mail, similar to those issued from the War Department in 1858, directing the letting of all thereon to the lowest responsible party. Favorites, without advertising for bids. The fortunate gentlemen, two in number, who have thus received a contract estimated to amount to three-quarters of a million of dollars, are not citizens of Arizona; but as the magical influence of the "almighty dollar" is powerful, they may be said to control the entire trade and market of the territory. The contractors are, of course, not to blame for accepting such a princely contract which will render them independent for life, within a few months, but is there not corruption in the office of the Secretary of War at Washington, from whence issues this mandate, so calculated to fill, at the expense and subject the interests of the people of a new and rising Territory?

The Frost.—Yesterday was cold in the morning, and grew colder as the day went on. Quite a flurry of snow filled the air for a short time, and there was a wind all day. At the approach of evening, the clouds went away, and a sharp frost came in their stead. Ice formed half an inch thick in some places—tender vegetables were nipped; but it is hoped that the fruit was not hurt to any great extent. The apple trees generally were not out of bloosom.

HORRIBLE SUICIDE.—On Monday, the 14th inst., Joseph Grimsley, son of widow Grimsley, of Sparta township, in this county, committed suicide by hanging himself in the woods near Gullitt's mill. The circumstances, as related to us, are as follows:

A brother of the deceased had been sick, and was supposed to be in a dying condition on Friday preceding the suicide; indeed, it was thought at the time that he was dead. For fifteen minutes life seemed to be extinct, and preparations were being made to lay him out when he revived, and, the time that he was dead, for fifteen minutes he been to Heaven—that he saw his father there (who had been dead some some two years); that he saw other of his relations there. He never doubted that it was revealed to him that all of his family would finally reach Heaven excepting his brother Joseph—that he was so wicked he would not reach there.

This was all told in the presence of the deceased, who, from that hour, acted strangely, and during Saturday and Sunday frequently talked to his sister about dying, and as to the easiest mode of taking one's life. The family were so much engaged with the sick brother that Joseph's actions were paid to the strange conduct of the deceased.

Finally, on Monday, he left the house and never returned. Search was instituted, but nothing could be found of him until Saturday, when two men (Mr. Ward and Mr. Spickard) who were hunting for game, accidentally found him, suspended by the neck from a pole which had fallen across a tree.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—A young man named Jesse M. Williams has horsewhipped Joseph Jacobs in Lexington, Ky. Jacobs has been living with Williams' wife, and Williams, after having caught them in adultery, undertook to punish Jacobs, when the latter drew a pistol and shot Williams in the arm, inflicting a severe wound. Jacobs was arrested and bailed in the sum of $1,000.

ROBBERY.—Yesterday, while Mr. Cook was absent from his residence on Fifth street, between Market and Jefferson, a thief entered the house and stole a gold watch and chain, valued at $100. The watch was found in the possession of a negro man named Jerry Bell, who was arrested and committed to jail.—Louisville Journal, 23d.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

ADVERTISING FOR A WIFE.—Some months since a wholesale fish and leather dealer advertised in the Boston Herald for a wife possessing all the necessary accomplishments and graces—hence he cared nothing for. Bible and Lamb—and thereupon was perfectly overwhelmed with letters, and in less than a week he had received one hundred answers to his advertisement. He immediately opened a correspondence with fifty accomplished females residing in New England States, and has lately been amusing himself by visiting them in turn. He gives the damsel due notice of his intention, makes her an evening call, takes her out to ride next morning, imparts the gratifying information that she has forty-nine rivals, fifty trials, and fourteen! He says that he is most righteously in earnest, and those of the fifty that strikes his fancy shall be Mrs. Hibb and Leather. Verily this is a fast age.

☞The cattle disease has increased to such an alarming extent in Massachusetts that the Governor and Legislature have taken action in relation to it, and although he has not positively decided to call one, there is but little doubt but that he will do so, and that it will be held as early as possible.

PACIFIC RAILROAD MEMORIAL.—The New Orleans Delta, in publishing the memorial of the Chamber of Commerce of that city to Congress in favor of Senator Wigfall's Pacific Railroad Bill, says:

It is a clear and forcible presentation of the justice of that bill and of the great benefits its passage would confer on the commerce of this city, and of the South, and of the whole Union. The rejection or defeat of Wigfall's Bill will be one of the most flagrant manifestations of the narrow-minded sectional jealousy which is so seriously clouding and darkening the future of this Republic. It does not in any way involve or relate to any of the slavery or political issues of the day, but rests upon simple geographical facts, and its success would be equally to the interest alike of the people of the North as of the South. It offers one undeniably practicable route for a road to the Pacific, and would be immediately entered upon, if the States of the Southern Atlantic slope will reap the benefits of the trade in heavy articles, and the great increase of the value of property assured to the first important seaport connected with the trans-continental road.

In contemplating the destinies of this great national enterprise, it is not necessary to look to the future. New York, New Orleans and San Francisco will become, as no others of the world, the three great centres of the world; for it is no stretch of the imagination to suppose that a railway and telegraph to the Pacific will render the United States the great highway of nations between Europe and Asia, and the rich products of silks, teas, and the precious metals of the East will be transferred on our soil for the manufactures of the terms which now, by the aid of our ships, control the commerce of the world. It is not, therefore, an idle speculation to look to the fact that in a few years the city of Lincoln will be the gallant adventurers good speed, Genoa gave 200 of her best marksmen from the Società dell' Tiro Nazionale; the rest were from all parts of the peninsula, and from the dialects one heard on every side, in the medley of cheers and leave-taking, amply testified. As usual with Garibaldi's volunteers, they were drawn from every grade and calling—nobles, soldiers, artists, physicians, down to peasants and workmen, all young and vigorous, and perfectly aware that what will pass current, because they are striking, are lead, powder, and work out, and sterling, that they possess a whole neighborhood, a whole city, a whole kingdom, with statements which are not true, and which the session at Chicago on the night following the nomination.

The Dead-Heid System.—In one train of cars from Schenectady to Albany last week, there were twenty-seven dead-heads. It is said there are one hundred and seventy-five dead-heads in Schenectady alone.

Here is a queer, yet startling calculation, made by Judge Capron, of Searsport, Me. In New York city there are 15,000 dram shops, 300,000 drinkers, each drinking two gills of liquor, being 600,000 gills, or 37,500 gallons per day, or 13,687,500 per year. This would fill a reservoir 900 feet long, 90 feet wide and 63 feet deep, and could float four ships in full rig, of 1,000 tons each. Reckoning the barrels per head, it amounts to one million, one hundred and eight, or one hundred and eighty-one thousand barrels per year, more than 24 were sober when arrested. Paupers in the city and county, 30,000; a year.

The crew of the ship Constant, from Sidney for Manilla, recently wrecked, suffered horribly from exposure and starvation before they were rescued. The mate and cook failed to the deck, September they subsisted upon the scanty food to be obtained from islands in the vicinity of the coast, but finally were compelled to sacrifice a negro—upon whom the lot fell—to their hunger. So sooner was he devoured than another negro, in the attempt to escape, by drowning, from a similar fate, was shot and eaten also.

A good joke is told of one of the second order of Japanese officers. On Saturday he went into a barber's shop in Washington, in order to have his queue shaved off. The operation was soon done, and quite to his liking. On leaving, he paid the barber, in accordance with tonsorial prices in the empire from which he came, a fifty ounce piece of gold, and placing in the hands of the astonished man one copper cash, eight of which are equal to one cent, or 5 doing, he walked leisurely away.

Miss Queen Rose, a young lady attached to a popular boarding school in Philadelphia, not long since eloped with a young medical student named John H. Bogart. The demoiselle was from Alabama, and gifted with marked personal and intellectual attractions. The opposition of her guardian to the match and his subsequent reconciliation we have already recorded. Immediately after the adjustment of all the difficulties in the way of their union, the bridegroom and bride departed for the South, buoyant with happiness. A letter from Mr. Bogart now announces the sudden death of his wife—cholera.

On last Sunday there was quite an excitement in our town. Many hundred negroes were in town to witness and to contribute their funds toward raising a sum of money for buying or building an African church. Two amateur and quite quadroon—were competitors for a prize. It had been determined by the colored brethren that whichever one of these girls, Clara French or Julia Johnson, should get the largest amount of money in her box, should be the happy recipient of a gold bracelet. The contest waxed exceedingly warm. Everybody was there, rich, poor, white, black, and harmony however prevailed. The result was—French $284 65, Johnson $295 15. Total $190 10.

There is an unwholesome abundance of money in the banks and on the street. The former are taking all the good eight months paper they can get at 6 per cent. In the latter, any amount of gilt edged paper is at 8 per cent. Unreliable money can be had at 8 per cent. City bank stocks are correspondingly in demand. City loans stand at 103 to 105, and going up. Morris Canal stand at 103 to 105, and going up. Morris Canal Preferred has never before reached its present figure. Reading is lower under rumors of a new issue of 1,000,000 three years at 6, sent down to 90, but Camden and Amboy is up to 132. Railroad securities are evidently again acquiring the public confidence. This feeling is strengthened by the belief that the tariff bill will become a law, in fact if not that the tariff bill will become a law, in consequence of the large increase of revenue which event a marked improvement must result. There are plenty of these in this latitude. There are afflicted in all of these in this latitude. The admirable arrangements to invest on demand its present large amount of capital is such that the public confidence of capital is such that the public confidence in the security for a dead letter. No institution free banking law is a dead letter. No institution has been organized under it here, nor elsewhere in this State, as far as I can learn. As business now stands, we have no many banks already.

KNOW THYSELF.

DR. J. H. McLEAN is enabled to detect to a certainty the true condition and locality of disease, by a simple and scientific method, without asking the patient any questions. Some prefer to do this, yet are careful to ask some leading questions in order to obtain a clue to the disease. We do nothing of that kind, and have invented by given satisfaction. Consultations and examinations

FREE OF CHARGE.

DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS treated on a new method of Medicated Inhalation and constitutional treatment. Medicines prepared from Indian Vegetable, which has proved a speedy and effectual cure for the following diseases, viz: Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Throat and Lungs, Diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys, Dropsy, Salt Rheum, Fever and Ague, Cancers, Chronic Ulcers, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Fistula, Spasms, Fits, Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Skin Diseases, Rupture, Diarrhœa, and, in short, all curable diseases. We are not a "one pill" doctor, and will undertake no case without a fair prospect of recovery.

FEMALE DISEASES.

Females troubled with Suppressions, Irregularities, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Falling of the Womb, Polypus of the Uterus, Tumors of any kind, Barrenness, all Urinary Diseases, Painful or Irregular Menses, Nervousness, Debility, &c., will be specially cared without the use of poisonous drugs or injurious or unsuitable medicines of any kind. Have no charge for advice, and will tell you what your troubles may be. I do not expect you to place yourself under my treatment unless perfectly satisfied.

All communications strictly confidential. The afflicted are cordially invited to call at my Medical Rooms, Office on the west side of First street, between Market and Jefferson streets, fourth door from the corner, Louisville, Ky. All letters addressed to our care, enclosing a stamp, giving a correct address and nature of disease, will receive prompt attention. Medicines sent to all parts of the United States. Office hours from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M. Sundays excepted.

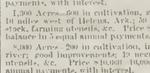
HEALTH RESTORED!



An aperient and stomachic preparation of IRON purified with Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen, of high medical authority and extraordinary efficacy in each of the following complaints, viz.:

DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, CONSTIPATION, SCROFULA, SALT RHEUM, SCURVY, JAUNDICE, LIVER COMPLAINTS, RHEUMATISM, ARTIFICIAL CONSEQUENCES, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, REGRALGIA, CHRONIC HEADACHES, FEMALE WEAKNESS, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, etc., PIMPLES ON THE FACE, ROUGHNESS OF THE SKIN, etc.

The IRON being absorbed by the blood, and thus circulating through the whole system, no case of any kind can escape their truly wonderful influence.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can for a moment be compared to these properties of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. In cases of amenorrhœa (or absence of the menses), chlorosis, (or chalk), chlorosis, etc.), its effects are delightfully renovating. No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such a powerful influence over the nervous system. Good appetite, completa digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use. As a great stomachic and general restorative it has no superior and no substitute.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills; price 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2 50; one dozen boxes, $4 00. For sale by Druggists generally. Will be sent free by mail to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

FROM

D. VENOGE & CO. EPERNAY, FRANCE.

Sold by all Respectable Dealers throughout the Country.

This fine brand of CHAMPAGNE, which until the past year was confined exclusively to the best tables of the Continent of Europe, has now obtained the most unbounded success and popularity in this country. It is recommended by some of the first physicians in the city of New York, over all other wines, on account of its extreme purity and delicacy, and those who once try it rarely use any other brand. Although only one year has elapsed since its introduction into this country, the demand is enormous and constantly increasing. Our arrangements are such as to insure the quality of Wine being maintained at its present high standard. The Prince Imperial is imported solely by us, we being the sole agents of D. Venoge & Co. in this country.
